* A strategy for dealing with applications was also discussed at the same meeting:

Moved by Ald. Grimley, seconded Ald. Moore: that plans and specifications ... be referred to the Town Clerk, Engineer and Sanitary Inspector conjointly for approval but in the event of their failing to agree or their decision is disputed ~~disputed~~ the application together with the officer's reports thereon be referred to the Council for their consideration and a professional opinion thereon if considered necessary".

An Amendment - moved by Ald. Fairweather and seconded by Ald. Merivale: "that the plans & specifications be referred to a qualified architect".

was lost

The motion as put by Ald. Grimley (see above) was passed.

* 27 Sept., 1909 (See WMC minutes p. 80)

The resolution adopted on 5th April, 1909 (see above) was rescinded.

Ald. Magney moved the rescinding motion in the following terms:

" That the plans and specifications of buildings about to be erected, altered or added to, be referred to the Town Clerk, Engineer and Sanitary Inspector conjointly for approval but in the event of their failing to agree, or their decision disputed, the application together with the officers reports thereon be referred to the Council for their consideration and professional opinion thereon if considered necessary.

The mover intimated that he would withdraw the resolution since the ruling of the Mayor covers it.

Sands Directories

E.K. Harkness - Sands Search, alphabetical

1890 - Edward Harkness, builder, Saber Street Woollahra

This is the first appearance of EKH in the alphabetical section of Sands Directory.

The Woollahra section of the Suburban Directory in the same issue shows only five residents, including Edward Harkness, for Saber Street: a midwife, a stonemason and a cab proprietor among them 1891 - EKH at Saberl Street. Now 12 residents listed for the street.

1892 - Edward Harkness, builder listed under Sabe Street (now among 21 other Harkness, Edward also listed under Vernon Street, adjacent to its intersection with Saber. [corner site?].

1893 - E.K. Harkness, Lower Forth Street, Woollahra

[Lower Forth Street later became

1894 - as for 1893 issue

1895 - as for issue, 1894

1896 - as for previous issue [1895]

1897 - as for previous issue [1896]

1898 - E. Harkness E, Marloo listed under OSH Road (now Oxford Street) No. 19, between Adelaide Street and Edgecliff Road intersections.

- 14 houses from Adel. St. intsection, 6 from Kidman's terrace (11 from Edgecliff intsection). ~~and~~ Marloo was 4 properties removed (towards Adel. Street) from Icasia.

1899 – Harkness still living in OSH Road (Oxford Street) but now at "Nithdale", neighbouring Icasia

1900 – Alphabet. section lists E Harkness at an OSH Rd, Woollahra, address, but in Suburban Directory he appears as the sole resident of Harkness St.*

1901 – E. K. Harkness, Harkness Street, Woollahra.
Now 14 residents listed for street. E.K. Harkness listed on East side, at one (Edgecliff Road?) end of the street.

1902 – info as for previous issue

1903 – info as for previous issue

1904 – EKH now at Edward Street*, Woollahra.
– Suburban Directory shows him at house midway along the northern side of Edward Street.

1905 – 2 listings for EK Harkness in alphabetical section – Bathurst Street & NSH Road
– Suburban Directory – New South Head Road listing shows him at "Min Ma", S'ern side of road between the Bellevue Rd – Manning Road intersections – 4 properties from Manning Rd.
– Bathurst Street listing shows him at unnamed house/office(?) on South side of street, 4 properties removed from one end (but which end – Edgecliff Rd or Edward Street?)

1906 – Alphabetical now has only one listing for EKH – NSH Road.
(WS Harkness now at Bathurst and Edward Sts. Relation?)
(EKH at Min Ma – see note for 1905

1907 – Alphabetical – EKH at NSH Rd – no longer at Min Ma; now at Ohio – 3 doors away*3
E.G. Harkness at Russell St, Woollahra, WS Harkness at Bathurst & Edward Streets

*3 The number of houses in this block has increased from 9 (1906 issue) to 20.

* This marks the first appearance of Harkness Street in the Directory.

*2 Edward Street was first listed in the 1902 issue of Sands, already with 14 residents } 11 on North side, 3 on South side
By 1903 issue there were 27 residents listed – 12 on South side

1908 - E K builder, listed under NSH Road in same block as before but not at either min ma or Ohio (both of which were occupied by other people). [office, perhaps?]
An Edward Harkness is also listed at the Double Bay end of Bellevue Road.

1909 - EKH, builder, listed at NSH Rd at its intersection with Bellevue Road; also, Edward Harkness listed at end of Bellevue Road. [same premises?]

1910 - EKH at cnr. of NSH Rd & Bellevue Rds (as before). (P.O. site)
Edward Harkness at Russell St, house named 'Palermo', west side of Russell St at Edward St end.

1911 - EKH now at 'Carlotta' Bellevue Road, midway between its intersection with Yamba/Kolgoa/Bulkara and NSH Road.
plus entry Harkness, EK Builder at NSH Road between Kiora and Bellevue (P.O. site)

1912 - as for 1911

1913 - ~~EKH~~ - now at Manning Road, east side, at another house called Carlotta. Only 2 houses listed for East side - Carlotta & Pine Hill.

- entry under NSH Rd as before [office? P.O. site?]

1914 - still at Carlotta, Manning Road. Now 3 houses on this East side of street.
- NSH Rd entry as before

1915 - as above. NSH Rd premises now has a street no - 375

1916 – now at 'Carlotta', Carlotta Road, Double Bay (1 one of 7 houses in this street.

1917 – as above – now 10 houses in street. Harkness at one end of street.

1918 – seems to have moved to Chatswood, while retaining an office in Double Bay. House name, 'Someset'

1919 – no entry for EK Harkness apart from the NSH Rd office.

1920 – as above

1921 – Back at Carlotta, Carlotta Road.

1922 – residence – Carlotta Road, Double Bay. (2 houses called Carlotta now in street, on opposite sides to each other!)
office – NSH Rd, D.B. – bills him as estate agent & builder.

1923 – still at Carlotta Road

1924 – Now at Warner Road, Double Bay. Office in same position.

1925 – still listed at Dumpies, Warner Road. A boot repairer has taken over his office, & no other office site is listed in alphab. sequence.

Edward Knox Harkness died on 7th August, 1924.

WOOLLAHRA FLATS.

Council's Policy.

MAYOR REPLIES TO COMPLAINTS.

Prospective builders of large blocks of flats in the Woollahra municipality complain that the council's restrictions are hampering building operations.

The Mayor, Alderman G. S. Grimley, said yesterday that the allegations were misleading and incorrect, and that delays in passing plans by the council occurred only when proposals were submitted which the aldermen considered unreasonable and not in the public interest.

Alderman Grimley explained that delay was possible when a prospective builder wanted to erect flats of the maximum size permitted, at the minimum cost. In such cases an inspection of the site by the building committee was necessary before the council either accepted or rejected the plans.

"If builders persist in submitting proposals which are obviously foredoomed to rejection by the council," added the Mayor, "the builders, and not the council, must accept responsibility for any delay that occurs before a final decision is reached. One builder, who has been erecting flats almost continuously in Woollahra for years, and knows the council's requirements perfectly, recently submitted plans which bristled with so many omissions and inaccuracies that the conditions of approval necessitated 17 clauses. The same builder lodged another plan which contained so many alterations that the council rightly declined to consider it."

PREVENTING CONGESTION.

The Mayor stated that the general policy of the Woollahra Council was that when an allotment was small one half of it should not be built upon. The congested conditions resulting from the building of too many flats in parts of Woollahra demonstrated the urgent need for reform of the building ordinances. The bare minimum of the existing ordinances was not good enough for Woollahra, and if builders wanted more uniformity in building regulations they should join the council in its efforts, now extending over four years, to induce the Government to revise the present antiquated building law. Letters received by the council showed that its efforts to improve the standard of flats in Woollahra were approved by a majority of property owners in the municipality. The object of the council was to place the general interest of the community above that of builders and investors, who wanted to extract the maximum of profit from their building operations.

The Mayor stated, in proof of his assertion that the council's policy was aiding the development of the municipality, that in the half-year ended June 30 flats completed in Woollahra were valued at £336,425, compared with £226,659 for the corresponding months of 1937. The total value of new buildings erected in Woollahra in the last two years exceeded £1,000,000. The value of property in the municipality which was sold last year was £1,254,932. Sales in the first six months of this year exceeded £659,600.

Successful subdivision sales have not been numerous. At Maroubra Junction and Bondi Beach, Crown land subdivision, returned very satisfactory figures, but, in the city, the Municipal Council's offer of Martin-place realised in September, despite publicity which extended to England and the United States, produced no response at auction.

Questions for Harkness descendants

(1) How did he finance his projects?

(2) We know he named ~~houses~~ streets in his estates. Did he also give the houses he built their names? (we note a "Kiora" in Edward Street, in the 1903 issue of Sands, newly built)

(3) His developments were characterised by rapid building. How many staff did he employ, and did family members work for him.

(4) Design of his houses - did he buy designs from architects / draw the designs himself.

(5) Suppliers - who were his regular suppliers? Were most of the 'decorations' on his house, prefabricated?

(6) Domed / vaulted ceilings - a curious feature of some of his houses. Can you shed any light on this.

(7) Was he a rich man by the time he retired?

(8) What did his altercations with Council cost him in terms of money, health etc.

(9) Where else, besides Woollahra, did he develop?

(10) What took him to Chatswood to live?

(11) What was his relationship with the Cooper estate.

(12) Why was he called "Edward Knox." Harkness.

EDWARD KNOX HARKNESS name.

Edward Knox Harkness

1864 - 1924

Biography.

It has been claimed that Edward Knox Harkness built 4,000 houses in Woollahra municipality. This figure is probably an overstatement, however he was an influential figure in the development of Double Bay and that area of Woollahra sweeping up to Bondi Junction.

Harkness started work as a carpenter in 1884 but very quickly began describing himself as a builder. He operated as a speculative builder - buying land and building on it and then selling the developed land. It would appear that he funded his developments through mortgages, and much of the land that he acquired came from the Point Piper Estate.

His first foray into the construction business was on a resubdivision of part of the Grafton Estate in Saber Street in 1888. By the late 1890s he had become a developer in his own right with the move into creating his own subdivisions. He employed a large team of workmen to build the distinctive Gothic style of cottage that can still be seen today in areas such as Transvaal Avenue, Double Bay, which he developed in 1900. Most of his buildings were single storey houses with kitchen, bathroom, laundry and four or five bedrooms.

Harkness married three times and had twelve children - the family moved constantly, living in houses near the current construction project or subdivision. His brother Walter Scott Harkness and his oldest son Edward G. Harkess worked with him in the business. Edward Harkness was killed at Gallipoli during WWI.

The style of his buildings changed from about 1909 becoming closer in appearance to the bungalow, and again in the 1920s, when the design was more in line with utilitarian fashions. From 1916 Harkness seems to have scaled back his operations and by 1922 he was apparently describing himself firstly as real estate agent and secondly as builder.

He died in 1924 at the age of 59 years.

Motion put by Ald Fairweather, carried:

That a committee consisting of the whole Council, five members of such committee to form a quorum, meet to draft regulations ~~and~~ or by-laws in accordance with the Building Ordinance 70 of the Local Government act 1906/8. That such regulations and by-laws when approved by the Council be printed and supplied on application to the Council Clerk.

Seconded by Ald. Magney & carried.

These regulations were tabled 28th June, 1909.

At the same meeting - 28th June, 1909 - Ald. Fairweather again moved that building applications be referred to a 'qualified person' & that Council invite applications to fill such a position. Again, his motion was unsuccessful.

Ald Magney moved that Paddington, Waverley, Randwick & Vaucluse Council's be approached to co-operatively appoint an architect or builder to report on all B.As & to supervise the carrying out of the building regulations.

~~Pass~~ Motion lost.

The first series of Applications listed as being dealt with under Ord. 70 appear in the Council Minutes of 28th June, 1909.

10 applications handled

21 Regulations were submitted to Council as a building code by the Building Regulations Committee on 12th July, 1909. (pp 42-43).

BELLEVUE HILL

Estate with a rich history hits market

Rare opportunity to buy old site

Melissa Kehagias

ONE of Bellevue Hill's oldest estates has come onto the market for only the third time since it was built in the early 20th century.

Tiare's 1369sq m land size at 142 Bellevue Rd was once a part of a large estate owned by Edward Knox Harkness, a carpenter turned builder and property developer.

In 1913, Mr Harkness subdivided the 1130 acres that made up "Cooper Estate" and covered almost half of the current local government area of Woollahra.

One lot of land was bought by the Dezarnauld family, prominent members of the French communities of Sydney and New Caledonia.

Originally one acre, it was also home to the houses that now sit at 138a, 138b, 140, 142a, 142b and 142c Bellevue Rd.

In about 1914, the Dezarnaulds built a Federation-style home on the block, naming it Tiare, French for Tiara. It became home to Camille and Mary Dezarnauld and their five children. After the death of Mr Dezarnauld, Mrs Dezarnauld further subdivided the land and Tiare was then bought by Eva and Leslie Keleman.

About 10 years ago the house exchanged for the second time, selling to the current owners Alan and Fiona Frost and their four sons.

Mrs Frost said the home had been modernised in the 1960s but was extensively renovated by the Frosts.

"We made sense of the bedroom configuration and put in an upstairs bedroom retreat," Mrs Frost said.

"It was just a matter of taking the home back to what it was like when it was originally built."

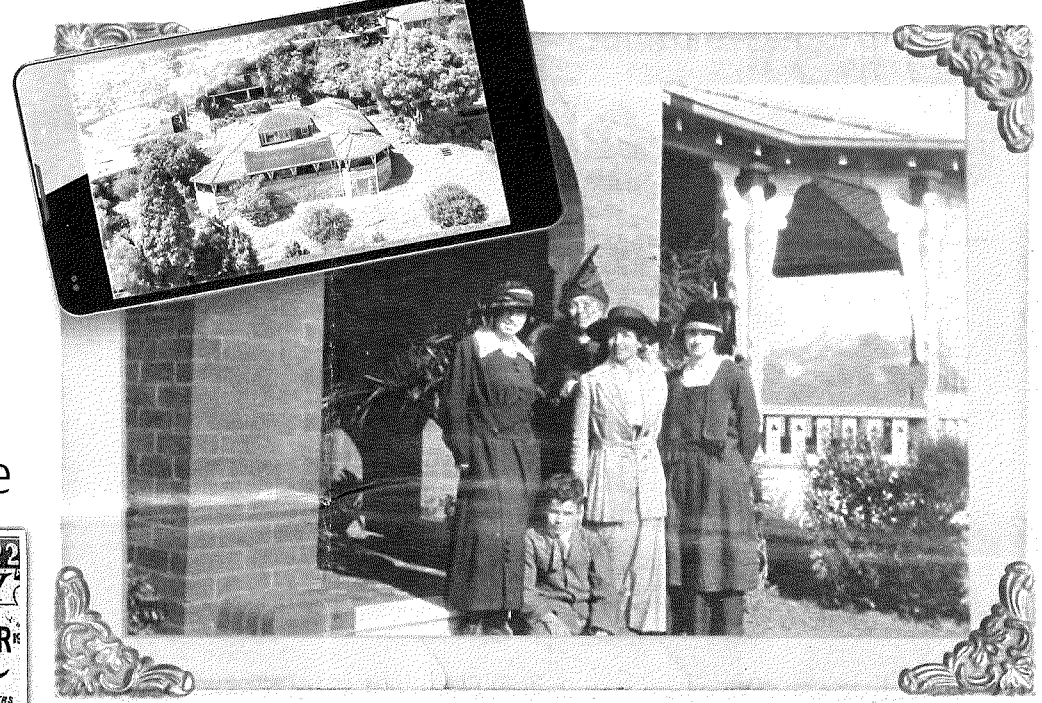

She said the family had returned the balcony to its original Federation style, replacing the wooden fretwork that had been removed by the previous owner.

"The house is gorgeous because it gets more than 180-degree views across to Woollahra and the veranda runs along three sides. There is an incredible vista from every bedroom and the living room at the front of house," Mrs Frost said.

"The most amazing thing about the house is that it's a country house just 5km from the city."

Selling agent Ashley Bierman said the home's large scale and location were features that made it distinctive.

It is scheduled to sell at auction on November 3 and has a price guide of $6.5 million.

Hotel expects to fetch more than $30m

THE Clovelly Hotel has been put up for sale, with agents expecting the property to fetch between $30-40 million.

Agent Andrew Joliffe of Ray White Hotels said recent sales

While its $9.1 million annual turnover is sure to be the key drawcard for buyers, the hotel's 150-year history is just as valuable according to Mr Joliffe.

much further afield, will have an affinity with," he said.

"These assets are, frankly, irreplaceable. They aren't building any more Coogee Bay, Bondi or Clovelly hotels."

Walking guide

● Centennial Parklands has released a free digital walking guide with a personalised self-guided tour of the nature and wildlife highlights. The new Nature and Wildlife Walking Tour uses 'geocache' technology and features an interactive map to the Parklands. It includes audio, photo and video content to help tell the stories and highlight the features during the relaxed 45-minute walk. It is available on the iziTravel platform.

Low speeds

● A new 10km/h shared zone speed limit has been implemented on Goodchap and Little Riley St at Surry Hills to create a pedestrian friendly, low speed environment. The speed limit and "give way to pedestrians" signs were being installed yesterday. Motorists and cyclists are required to give way to pedestrians in the shared zone.

Choir concert

● The Daydream Believers choir is celebrating its eighth anniversary with a concert showcasing its talent at 2pm on Sunday, October 30, at the Jewish Centre on Ageing, 25 Rowe St, Woollahra, near
